

Map of Dunfallandy and West Haugh Salmon fishings, River Tummel

Beat description

Laundry Pool – Fishes best at the upper limit of the beat. Begin with a short line and gradually extend before moving downstream.

Sawmill Pool – A superb pool that fishes well in medium to low water. The top end is lovely for fly fishing but you must be very careful the wading is deep and dangerous. The gap opposite the Edradour Burn is a good cast. The tail of the pool as it glides into Pol Dour is another favourite place.

Pol Dour – A holding pool that contains decent numbers of fish at times. It is probably the best high water pool on the river. Fishes well right from the top to the bottom, opposite the fishing hut and the tail are the most prolific sections.

Brennans Corner - Low water pool for salmon and grilse but it requires a wade from the right bank to reach the gravel island. In low water conditions this is an easy wade but it should not be attempted when the water is higher and it must never be approached wading from upstream because there is a dangerous trough in the river bed. Either wade straight out to the island or upstream to ensure that you can always retreat in safety.

Middle Pool – Above the road bridge fishes well from the right bank and below the bridge it fishes best from the left bank. A lovely fly fishing pool that is worth a cast at any water height.

Wyndotte – Best fished by wading from the left bank to a gravel bar in mid river. Extreme caution there are deep troughs in the gravel. It holds fish even at the lowest river levels.

Spruce Tree – Two small pots that often contain a fish or two. The upper pot beneath the spruce tree is deep and fast, it fishes best in a low water, the lower pot is better with a foot or so on the gauge.

Pol Triech – A famous pool that is best fished by wading from the right bank. There is a deep trench close to the bank so take extreme care and do not wade too far downstream.

Map produced by Ally Gowans AAPGAI and FFF Master Fly fishing instructor
tel 01796 473718
www.letsflyfish.com